

Small Scale Projects

Small scale projects are to serve the basic needs of the least advantaged in society and should have an immediate and sustainable effect on their living conditions, alongside the Sustainable Development Goals defined by the United Nations. Some examples for small scale projects:

— Infrastructure and environmental protection

- Equipment and materials for constructing / repairing an irrigation system, a water dam, a bridge or a road
- Constructing / furnishings and equipment for a community centre
- Constructing biogas or photovoltaic plants for electricity supply

Health

- Constructing / furnishings and equipment for a drinking water well, a community health centre, a dental clinic, an eye clinic, public sanitary facilities, a laboratory
- Promoting health awareness through publications or workshops
- Workshop for mothers with handicapped children

Education

- Constructing / repairing / furnishings and equipment for a school building
- Purchasing educational & teaching materials
- Equipment for vocational training (sewing machines, special tools, work benches)

Income generation

- Purchasing tools and machinery for farming or motors for small fishing boats
- Constructing / repairing crop storage facilities
- Purchasing seedlings for cultivation of crops, fruits & vegetables
- Workshop on how to run a small business

The German Missions in India administer the projects independently within their respective administrative districts (see next page).
